

VILLA DEL SOL

YOUR PLACE IN THE SUN

"A superb study in ethnic elegance that makes you feel you're a house guest in their villas."*

In such a place, you may find it hard to stay indoors, even in the charming elegance of your air-conditioned suite or room... even when you walk barefoot over the cool Mexican tiles, relax in a sitting room furnished to match the casual sophistication of bleached adobe walls, and sleep soundly behind the soft gauze curtain that surrounds your canopied king-size bed.

But occasionally you may enjoy a quiet afternoon with a book on the privacy of your terrace. Or you might take a moment to view the luxuriant garden and murmuring stream meandering by your suite.

Your moments of solitude won't be disturbed. You are far from the world of bustling high-rise hotels, rushing elevators and noisy buses. This, after all, is paradise, where the call of a tropical bird is the loudest sound you're likely to hear.
